

HEAVY DAMAGE IS WROUGHT BY AN EARLY MORNING FIRE

Evans Millinery Establishment Visited by Disastrous Conflagration

TOTAL LOSS ABOUT $4,000

Is Partly Covered by Insurance— Apartments of Evans Family on Second Floor Are Badly Damaged By Fire and Water.

One of the worst fires here in months this morning gutted the Evans' millinery store at 323 McKean avenue and badly damaged the building in which the establishment is located and in which Mr. and Mrs. William Evans and family live. While as yet it has been impossible to estimate the loss it will be in the neighborhood of $4,000 or $5,000, with insurance covering a large proportion.

First evidence of the fire was discovered at about 1:40 o'clock by Joseph Wheeler, who rapped on the front door for Mr. Evans. Immediate investigation led to the discovery of a blaze near a desk in the rear of the storeroom. A fire alarm was immediately sounded.

The firemen responding at once used chemicals in extinguishing the blaze. After considerable work they left, believing the fire entirely out.

However there must have been a smoldering mass somewhere for near 5 o'clock members of the Evans family sleeping on the second floor were again awakened by a smell of smoke. The whole store and the entire rear part of the building seemed afire. Another alarm was rung and shortly after another.

First the firemen used chemicals, then finding them unavailing in getting to the seat of the second blaze were forced to turn on water. It was necessary to flood the rear of the building and nearly all the store room before all remaining sparks were extinguished.

Dense smoke and fumes interfered with fire fighting. Holes had to be chopped in the roof and from the kitchen the firemen had to cut holes in order to get at the seat of the blaze in the rafters. The building is of veneer brick construction and the fire was located in such a way that it was difficult to get at. Several of the firemen working on the roof and through the rooms were pulled away just in time to save them from being overcome. C. H. Christner, manager of the Charleroi Telephone company who is a member of the fire department had his hand cut by flying glass, and Henry Lowstuter, driver of the fire truck, likewise suffered.

In the store room at the time of the blaze was a large assortment of millinery stock, including numerous new fall hats which had been prepared for the fall season. The fact that some of the stock was nailed in boxes and consequently was untouched by either fire or water saved greater damage. The household goods in the Evans' home on the second floor were damaged considerably, and the kitchen looked a mass of ruin this morning.

The origin of the fire is unknown. It might have been from crossed wires. This theory is held by several who have investigated inasmuch as

CORONER INVESTIGATES TWO DEATHS AT FREDERICKTOWN

Heffran Finds Two Men Met Death Purely by Accident in Coal Mines— Accidents Saturday.

Coroner James T. Heffran was in Fredericktown Monday to investigate two deaths in coal mines. On Saturday Baptista Konek, an Italian 38 years of age was killed by a fall of roof coal in the Maple Glen mine near Fredericktown. Coroner Heffran found it to have been a case of accidental death.

Frank Uvninsky, aged 42, a Slovak, married, was killed at the Vesta No. 5 mine Saturday by a fall of rock. It too was found to have been purely a case of accidental death. Another fatal accident at the Vesta No. 5 mine that occurred Monday is now being investigated by the coroner.

WESTMORELAND TO PROBE SHOOTING

Slaying of Gasperi Bruno By Pietro Tammurello at Monessen Investigated

CORONER CONDUCTS INQUEST

Local investigation into the shooting of Gasperi Bruno, a youthful Italian of Monessen Monday evening ended in the case being turned over to the authorities of Westmoreland county to do as they see fit in tracing down Pietro Tammurello, his alleged slayer. Coroner James T. Heffran conducted his inquest at the undertaking rooms of Lawrence B. Frye, with the following jury hearing the evidence: L. R. Walters, Harry Perry, William Lambert, L. J. Robertson, Bruce K. Barnett.

Testimony showed the shooting occurred as related in the Mail of last Thursday. Bruno and Tammurello quarreled when the latter made use of Bruno's room while shaving. They went into a nearby alley to fight it out, and Tammurello, as the story goes, shot Bruno in the back. He fled through the residence district of Monessen to unknown parts. The state police are still looking for him.

The verdict rendered was in effect: that hemorrhage from a bullet wound inflicted by Tammurello caused Bruno's death. Then recommendation was made that Westmoreland county continue its investigations, the case being referred to the coroner of that county. First investigation was conducted here from the fact that Bruno died in this county at the Charleroi-Monessen hospital.

Firemen working on the roof of the building received shocks.

MUCH WANTED MAN IS CAPTURED BY POLICE

James Maxwell, With Record in Ohio and Pennsylvania, Arrested at Finleyville—Successful in Passing Worthless Checks

In the arrest of James Maxwell, the trail. They trailed him from otherwise known as John Hall, John Hart, J. C. McWilliams, and Robert Hays, the local police believe they have effected one of the most important captures in months here. Maxwell was arrested at about midnight by Chief C. W. Albright and Policeman James Murphy at the Zwick hotel in Finleyville. Maxwell is wanted not only in Charleroi, but in Youngstown, Ohio, Monongahela and Sharon for passing worthless checks.

Maxwell came to Charleroi Friday after successful ventures in his sort of business in numerous towns. He posed as a well drilled and forthwith hired a man to help him with his supposed contracting work. A check was written and cashed, following his usual system. Maxwell then got away.

Monday when the facts of the swindle became known the police got on the trail. They trailed him from town to town until they ascertained that he was quartered at the Zwick hotel in Finleyville. They found that his door was locked. With the properly authorized help they had the door opened. One confronted Maxwell with a revolver and the other attached the handcuffs. He was brought to Charleroi in the police patrol and lodged in the lockup. Where this morning he appears disgusted and sick.

Maxwell is a man over six feet tall and is possessed of a splendid physique. He will be held here until the police learn more from Ohio. Information has been lodged against him in a number of instances in Youngstown, and it is likely he will be taken back there after the police get through with him here. His checks were written mostly for small amounts ranging from $5 to $15.

ATTEMPTS TO SLAY THE GIRL HE LOVES

Former Carnival Band Man Returns From Oklahoma Determined to Marry Monessen Girl and Shoots When His Plans Are Frustrated

Elizabeth Garro a girl of 16 is in a critical condition at her home at 276 Schoonmaker avenue, Monessen and her lover Samuel Celoger, aged 30 is in the Greensburg jail awaiting the outcome of his injuries. He shot her it is claimed when she declined to marry him after he had purchased her a diamond ring and a wrist watch.

Celoger traveled with a carnival which visited Monessen last summer. While there he met the Garro girl. After leaving he kept up a correspondence with her. He attached himself to the United States Army at Fort Fil, Oklahoma, after leaving the carnival company and played with the band there. Within the last few weeks he purchased his discharge and came to Monessen Saturday. The girl refused to marry him, though he protested they were engaged.

Monday night at about 8 o'clock he went to her home and called her into the yard. After pleading vainly he drew a revolver from his pocket and fired. The first bullet struck her left cheek. She fled. The second bullet lodged in her back and the third in her head. What saved her life was the bullet striking a hair pin. The man fired four times and but one bullet went wild.

Policeman Jock Menefee heard the first shot and ran to the scene, arriving in time to prevent the desperate man from turning the gun on himself, as he later admitted he intended. He was given a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace J. A. Watkins and sent to jail.

WORK IS STARTED ON DONORA SKYSCRAPER

Work was started Monday on Donora's first sky scraper. A. L. and F. A. Faller of Turtle Creek and Wilmerding broke ground for a business and apartment block 60x100 feet on three lots on McKean avenue between Coulson's shoe store and Scott's grocery. They have owned the lots for some time and recently closed a deal with Lieutenant Ray Furlong of the United States Navy for the other one. Clarence Miller has been awarded the contract for the excavating.

C. C. Compton, the architect is at work on the plans for the structure which will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000. It is aimed to have it ready for occupancy next May. The basement and ground floor of a store room 44x100 will be occupied by McCrory's five and ten cent store, a lease for a long term of years having already been signed.

TRUCK CAUSED HEAVY DAMAGES IS CLAIM OF CALIFORNIAN

Sum of $2,500 Asked From Donora Construction Company by Nathan Avenier—Truck Wrecked.

Nathan M. Avenier of California, has filed a suit for $2,500 damages against the Donora Construction Co. The claim is based on the damage done a truck belonging to the plaintiff, when a truck of the defendant company is alleged to have crashed into the Avenier truck on the improved road near Walkertown, West Pike Run township. The plaintiff avers that his truck was pulled to the extreme right of the road but notwithstanding that fact, the truck of the defendant company bumped into the truck of the plaintiff. It is averred the defendant company's truck was driven by an unlicensed driver and in a reckless and careless manner. It is averred that the truck of the defendant was not stopped for a distance of perhaps a half mile after it hit the Avenier truck. The plaintiff says his truck was wrecked and required extensive repairs.

Bad Roads Given as Cause For Cancellation of Part Of Today's Program

COME AS FAR AS GREENSBURG

Governor and His Cohorts Stop There Then Leave on Trip to Pittsburgh—Washington Celebration Goes on the Blink.

Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh and his party of state tourists passed up Washington county today on their state tour, the reason given being "bad roads."

Arriving in Greensburg from Bedford at about 1 o'clock the party of tourists divided up among the hotels to eat. The governor and his party were escorted into Greensburg by state troopers. First however the governor took some time off to inspect the barracks of the state police near Greensburg.

The governor arrived a little behind schedule time in Greensburg, so there was an immediate cancellation of the trip into Washington county. Between Greensburg and West Newton the roads were said to be particularly bad owing to the rains of Monday night.

Later perhaps the governor will make his trip to Washington county but according to his word in Greensburg his visit is indefinitely postponed. From Greensburg the party left for Pittsburgh at about 3 o'clock.

By the governor's postponement a celebration which had been arranged at Washington was of necessity cancelled.

LITTLE THINGS THAT COUNT

Every youngster is familiar with the story of how a tea kettle suggested the steam engine. It is one of the hundreds of examples of little things that count. Of course the tendency is to overlook small matters and to stress their importance. This is true in regard to our health as well as in the business of life, says the state health commissioner. There are certain common habits which everybody overlooks because they are so common and yet these trifles may have a very decided influence at times.

Millions of people moisten postage stamps with their tongues every day. There may have been shoved across a solid counter or torn off with dirty hands an instant before, but unfortunately a habit, plus convenience, leads the majority of people to the custom of adding them in this manner. Another seemingly trifling habit which may readily lead to difficulties is that of ripping open with the fingers, letters that have been sealed with wax or glue plus saliva.

In view of the fact that there are thousands of sufferers from tuberculosis and other diseases these seemingly insignificant acts are really thought with hunger. Our mouths are the chief avenue by which the germs of disease enter the system and our hands are the principle means of carrying them there. Watch anybody for a few minutes who is thinking of writing and see how their fingers are carried to the face. If they are not clean they are almost certain to carry germs to the mouth. There they decayed or unclean teeth furnish splendid breeding grounds. Children in school chew their pencils and as often as not exchange them unless they are warned against it and chew someone else's. Many people wet their fingers with their tongue to turn the pages of books and despite all that has been said and written by health authorities about keeping money carrying disease germs, they resort to this method of counting bills.

These are such simple things that undoubtedly you may sneer at them as not of sufficient importance. But constant care. For all that they are precautions worth observing and it is well to cultivate a certain fastidiousness and to err on the side of superfluous cleanliness for it is little things that count.

In a tour like that Governor Brumbaugh and his party are taking his wish his wishes should govern the sort of celebrations arranged. These celebrations are likely to pall on the line in his position anyhow. Along this line, some honest criticism might be directed at those towns which have tried to compel the government to change his very definite intention to comply with their wishes. It is a pity a while to be looked at and heard. Any town likes to have a big celebration come visiting, but the government may or making him want to come back is to treat him as he desires to be treated at the first.

Many trespass upon a man's farm and not constitute an acceptable reason for that outraged individual attacking manslaughter. When the aggrieved landowner takes the law in his own hands, even under the most aggravating circumstances, he is plainly in the wrong. Legal redress is provided for such things as trespass and it is not his business to shoot or shoot some luckless or may be innocent wanderer. Such a proceeding never obtains satisfaction for any one.

Chambers' share in the shipload of flour to be sent for the relief of suffering non-combatants in Belgium is considerable and practically what was a trifling promise several months ago. This is only one of several movements that has been successfully carried out for relief. Local relief work we have with us always and lately not only Belgian non-combatants, but Serbians and others have been bitterly crying their need. The drain has been heavy but the objects worthy.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

Smith was speeding through town in his new car, when a large policeman held up his semaphoric hand. Smith kept right on going and the next day, through the agency of license tags and statistics, he was summoned before a magistrate.

"Mr. Smith," said the magistrate in questioning the derelict one, "didn't you see the policeman wave his hand?"
"Yes sir," admitted Smith, unhesitatingly. "I saw him, all right."
"You didn't," returned the magistrate, with official severity. "Then why didn't you stop your car?"
"Because," answered Smith, "I had been just three hours and fifty-seven minutes getting the car to start."

An old miner visited a lawyer to make his will. The old man's property consisted of two small cottages, which had cost him $400. The lawyer asked him how he wished to dispose of it.

"Ma ould woman is to hev it all so long as she's ma widow."

"What age is your wife?" asked the lawyer.

"Seventy-two," was the reply.

"And how long have you been married?" was the next question.

"Over 50 years," was the reply.

The lawyer suggested that under the circumstances he should let his wife have the little property during her life, whether she remained a widow or not.

"Aa winnot! Aa winnot!" exclaimed the old man. "Aa'll hev me nar' way."

"But surely," expostulated the lawyer, "you don't expect an old woman now over 72 would ever dream of marrying again?"

The miner looked the lawyer full in the face and answered very solemnly:

"Well, sonny, there's na knowing what young chaps like yourself will do for money."

TRULY HOUSE OF MEMORIES

Uncle Ab Dusenberry Was Able to Provide Particulars Concerning Ancient Abode.

"What a dear, dear old house!" said Miss Amarantina Gushington to Uncle Ab Dusenberry when he was taking her for a drive during the first week she was one of his "summer people," and they had stopped before an ancient and deserted house.

"These dear old houses!" said Miss Amarantina. "I love to people them with the people and the things of the past! So much of romance, of human weal and woe, of song and story, are woven into the wood and warp of their history. This looks to me like a veritable house of dreams, an abode of which there are tales to tell, a bit of romance embodied in wood and stone, a veritable house of memories. Tell me some of the romance of this house, won't you, dear Mr. Dusenberry?"

"Well," said Uncle Ab, "I reckon maybe I kin I've been many a time how when old Bill Skinner lived there one of his gals, Elvira Jane I think it was, tuk it into her head to elope with Buck Pillsbury, an' a round of the ladder broke an' kerplunk they went into a bar'l o' rainwater flat as Bill's old bulldog come onto the scene an' Bill biffed some lops' out of a lower window with his shotgun, an' his wife who was a cross 'zween a rattlesnake and a hyenaar once she got her mad up, arriv with a long iron poker in one hand and a hoss-whip in the other, an' when they got done with Buck he had to go home on his hands an' knees part o' the way, an' Elvira Jane run off with a map peddler the next week. Her mother was married five times, an' three of 'em was livin' at one time, same as if she belonged to Newport's best society. Her father was married four times, an' her brother Jep loped with his stepmother's sister from this house, an' a couple o' years later she loped with his brother an' he married her sister, standin' right at the front gate, with the preacher standin' in the road. Bill's mother married a farm hand in this house when she was sixty-five years old and the farm hand was twenty-nine. So, take it by an' large, there's really been considerable romance mixed up with the old Skinner place, an' as you say, it's a kind of a house o' memories."—Puck.

Queen Elizabeth.
She—Elizabeth—was a hard mistress to serve. Irresolute and yet obstinate, she frequently refused to act or decide, procrastinated, delayed, hesitated, while her ministers watched disaster approach or opportunity vanish. Even her most influential advisers found it impossible to overcome the inveterate trait of indecision. Their correspondence shows them driven almost to despair in times of emergency at the queen's vacillation and unreasonableness. An indorsement by a clerk on a letter of 1600 still exists in faded handwriting to testify to this habit. "A letter which her majesty willed me to write to her secretary, and to send it by post, but before I had fully ended the letter she sent me to bring it to her before it was closed, which I did upon the point of six o'clock, and then her majesty having read and scanned it three or four times and sometimes willing me to send it away, and sometimes altering that purpose, commanded me at last to stay both the letter and the post."—E. P. Cheyney.

Was Quite Too Thoughtful.
Husband Who Received Basket of Soft-Shell Crabs From Wife Saved the Bread for Himself.

"Yes, I've heard from my wife and she's going to hear from me. Down on the shore where she is they have the very finest soft-shell crabs that ever used a nipper, and when they're fried they show themselves for the kindly disposition critics they are. Well, this morning I got word from my wife that she was going to send some of 'em fried and ready to eat. 'A fine lot' is the way she told me about 'em, and I had visions of about a bushel of 'em; so I promptly notified friends in the East end that they were on the eats.

"When the package arrived at the office it wasn't as large as I had expected, but I told myself not to be greedy and decide to make a fair division. Division seemed easy, for the package contained two smaller packages. Opening one, I sampled the goods and found them worth while and then passed them around in the office. They lasted three minutes. Then with the other package neatly tied I took a car for the East end. This is where the drama approaches the 'smash'.

"My wife is a very thoughtful woman. When she provides a lunch she provides the trimmings. It was quite a little snack she wanted me to have at the office and she carefully put the crabs in one package and—

"Yes, you have it! When I promptly opened that package in the presence of my East end friends, I found that it contained four slices of bread!"—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

RUSSIAN SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA AT EXPO

Creator and His Italian Band
Will Close Season Oct. 16.

Nothing has appeared in the way of musical attractions at the Pittsburgh Exposition this season that has created so much admiration and delight among those hungering for the best in music as the Russian Symphony Orchestra which is now closing its remarkable two weeks' engagement. Under the direction of Modest Altschuler, this great organization, a perfect type of Russian musical form, has been, and will continue presenting splendid programs, the orchestra being aided in its work by Marie Morrisey, a brilliant coloratura contralto soloist, and by some of the finest instrumental soloists covering the violin, cello, horn and trombone.

The Russian orchestra has three times crossed the American continent on concert tour and has won its way strictly on its artistic merits. It has not been in Pittsburgh before with vocalists and the appearance of Miss Morrisey is something of a delightful innovation. Following this great organization and commencing next week will come the great Creator and his famous Italian band. Like other attractions at the Pittsburgh Exposition Creator is a distinctive type of his own making, with one of the most marvelous organizations ever visiting this country. His conception of music is so thoroughly original and yet so completely masterful and artistic that it has compelled admiration and the surrender of some of the most carping critics of a few years ago. Creator and his band will remain with the Exposition until its close for the season, Oct. 16.

There has never been offered so many valuable exhibits in any one season as this year at the Point. Valuable in historic, instructive, amusing and entertaining elements. There has never been a season when the musical features have been so uniformly high in artistic merit, and where the demands and tastes of practically all have been met satisfactorily. There is the great historical exhibit of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and United States government display, the collection of relics of the Veterans of Foreign Service, showing war weapons from all the strange lands American soldiers had to fight in, and there has been the splendid photographic salon for the photographers of western Pennsylvania, which has drawn thousands of visitors to the Point buildings because of the broad interest in this first display of the kind.

Of the amusements and attractions of a wider range there are scores, including the moving picture shows, which are free, school displays, electrical displays and the spectacular reproduction, with electro-mechanical means, of the "Siege of Antwerp," one of the great incidents of the present European war.

HOW TO BE STRONG AND FAT

The trouble with most thin people who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drugging their stomachs or stuffing it with greasy foods; rubbing on useless "flesh creams," or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.

Thanks to a remarkable new scientific discovery, it is now possible to combine into simple form the very elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This masterpiece of modern science is called Tonoline and has been termed the greatest of flesh-builders. Tonoline aims through its regenerative, reconstructive powers to coax the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to every cell and tissue of your body. You can readily picture the result when this amazing transformation has taken place and you notice how your cheeks fill out, hollows about your neck, shoulders and bust disappear and you take on from 10 to 30 pounds of solid, healthy flesh. Tonoline is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. Tonoline costs only $1.00 for a 15 days' treatment.

HARRISBURG MAN IS NOW HAPPY

I. E. Beckwith Says Wonderful Remedy Gave Him Great Help.

I. E. Beckwith of Harrisburg, Penn., was a victim of disorders of the stomach and intestinal tract. He tried treatment after treatment. Nothing gave him relief.

Then one day he discovered Mayr's Wonderful Remedy—and soon was happy.

Mr. Beckwith wrote to Geo. H. Mayr, the maker of the remedy and for twenty years the leading druggist of Chicago.

"I believe that Mayr's Wonderful Remedy is the greatest stomach remedy on earth. One dose would convince any one who is troubled with his stomach of its wonderful merits. It removed some of the most awful looking stuff from my stomach. I have taken other remedies, but they never helped me."

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfied, your money will be returned.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to section eight of article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following is proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:—

Amend section eight, article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which reads as follows:

"Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation, except that any debt or debts hereinafter incurred by the city and county of Philadelphia for the construction and development of subways for transit purposes, or for the construction of wharves and docks, or the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of a system of wharves and docks, as public improvements, owned or to be owned by said city and county of Philadelphia, and which shall yield to the city and county of Philadelphia current net revenues in excess of the interest on said debt or debts, and the annual installments necessary for the cancellation of said debt or debts, may be excluded in ascertaining the power of the city and county of Philadelphia to become otherwise indebted. Provided, That a sinking fund of their cancellation shall be established and maintained," so that it shall read as follows:

Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which on the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, exceeded seven per centum of such assessed valuation, and has not since been reduced to less than such per centum, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation. The city of Philadelphia, upon the conditions hereinafter set forth, may increase its indebtedness to the extent of three per centum in excess of seven per centum upon such assessed valuation for the specific purpose of providing for all or any of the following purposes,—to wit: For the construction and improvement of subways, tunnels, railways, elevated railways, and other transit facilities; for the construction and improvement of wharves and docks and for the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of wharves and docks, owned or to be owned by said city. Such increase, however, shall only be made with the assent of the electors thereof at a public election, to be held in such manner as shall be provided by law. In ascertaining the borrowing capacity of said city of Philadelphia, at any time, there shall be excluded from the calculation a credit, where the work resulting from any previous expenditure, for any one or more of the specific purposes hereinabove enumerated shall be yielding to said city an annual current net revenue; the amount of which credit shall be ascertained by capitalizing the annual net revenue during the year immediately preceding the time of such ascertainment. Such capitalization shall be accomplished by ascertaining the principal amount which would yield such annual, current net revenue, at the average rate of interest, and sinking-fund charges payable upon the indebtedness incurred by said city for such purposes, up to the time of such ascertainment. The method of determining such amount, so to be excluded or allowed as a credit, may be prescribed by the General Assembly.

In incurring indebtedness, for any one, or more of said purposes of construction, improvement, or reclamation, the city of Philadelphia may issue its obligations maturing not later than fifty years from the date thereof, with provision for a sinking-fund sufficient to retire said obligation at maturity, the payments to such sinking-fund to be in equal or graded annual instalment. Such obligations may be in an amount sufficient to provide for and may include the amount of the interest and sinking-fund charges accruing and which may accrue thereon throughout the period of construction and until the expiration of one year after the completion of the work for which said indebtedness shall have been incurred; and said city shall not be required to levy a tax to pay said interest and sinking-fund charges, as required by section ten of article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, until the expiration of said period of one year after the completion of such work.

No act shall prescribe any limitations of time within which suits may be brought against corporations for injuries to persons or property, or for other causes different from those fixed by general laws regulating actions against natural persons, and such acts now existing are avoided," so that it shall read as follows:

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of this Commonwealth in accordance with provisions of the eighteenth (XVIII) article thereof. Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the following is proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth (XVIII) article thereof:—

AMENDMENT.

Laws may be passed providing for a system of registering, transferring, insuring, and guaranteeing land titles by the State, or by the counties thereof, and for settling and determining adverse or other claims to and interest in lands the titles to which are so registered, transferred, insured, and guaranteed, and for the creation and collection of indemnity funds; and for carrying the system and powers hereby provided for into effect by such existing courts as may be designated by the Legislature, and by the establishment of such new courts as may be deemed necessary. In matters arising in and under the operation of such system, judicial powers, with right of appeal, may be conferred by the Legislature upon county recorders and upon other officers by it designated. Such laws may provide for continuing the registering, transferring, insuring, and guaranteeing such titles after the first or original registration has been perfected by the court, and provision may be made for raising the necessary funds for expenses and salaries of officers, which shall be paid out of the treasury of the several counties.

Tallest Flagpole.

A fitting symbol of the mighty forests of the West is Astoria's flagpole, the tallest in the world, which floats the stars and stripes 241 feet above the Panama-Pacific exposition sea wall at the corner of the Oregon building. The stick, for it is a single stick of timber, is actually 251 feet long, but ten feet of the butt is imbedded in a 200-ton block of solid concrete, which, without other stays, holds the pole upright against the wind.

The pole was shaped from the trunk of a Douglas fir, which, as it originally stood in the Oregon forest, towered 347 feet in the air, and might have matched its height, though not its girth, against any but the loftiest of the California sequoias. Looking up at the great flagstaff, it is hard to realize that it weighs upward of 45 tons, and that there is lumber enough in it to build five ordinary eight-room houses. Its great height gives it an appearance of slenderness and lightness.—San Francisco Chronicle.

How to Fight Tuberculosis

In a paper read last year before the Bexar County Medical Society and published in part in the Louisville "Medical Progress," Dr. J. W.
Carhart, of San Antonio, Texas, a physician who has devoted much time to the study of tuberculosis,
said: "Since time immemorial man has been suffering from this disease,
three-fourths of all the mineral substances of the human body, they must be supplied in the foods or supplemented in mineral preparations, or natural starvation ensues with tuberculosis unchecked. The widespread and unchecked spread of tuberculosis and other preventable diseases is due largely to the deficient (time lacking) conditions of multitudes throughout the civilized world."

Thus from another authoritative medical source comes justification for the use of lime in the treatment of tuberculosis.

Since this is one of the ingredients of Eckman's Alternative, much of the success attending the widespread use of this remedy doubtless is due to the combination of this salt in such a way as to render it easily assimilable. It causes no stomach disturbance, and since it contains neither opiates, narcotics nor habit-forming drugs, it is safe to try.

Eckman's Alternative has effected remarkable results in numerous cases of pulmonary tuberculosis (consumption) and allied chronic affections of the throat and bronchial passages. In many instances such conditions, apparently, have yielded completely to it.

APEX OF WASHINGTON SHAFT

Few People Know Purpose of Parallel Iron Bands That Bind Brow of Monument.

Few persons who have seen the Washington monument, even those who have lived within sight of it all their lives, have noticed that the apex of the monument is surrounded with parallel bands. Such is the fact, however, and moreover, the bands are studied with golden points. The bands are made of gold plated iron a foot wide and the points are spaced a foot
from one another.

For a few moments in each sunny day of the first week of the new year
the golden light that binds the brow
of the Washington monument is visible to human eyes. Then the angle of incidence of the sun's rays is such that they are reflected downward to the windows of the buildings north and west of the monument, and the cool, gray surface is seen to be marked with eleven shining lines of gold.

Theoretically, a similar effect could be obtained from some point of observation at each moment when the sun's rays are intercepted by the sloping top of the monument, but only an airship could attain the necessary vantage point.

According to the original plan of the monument, it was protected from lightning by an aluminum tip that was connected with the metal framework of the elevator. During the very first summer after the monument was completed, however, it was struck twice and a piece of stone was clipped from the top.

Experts from the scientific departments of the government were called on to contrive a plan for the better protection of the shaft, and they decided that copper bands, studded with projecting points, would accomplish the purpose. Colonel Casey, who had charge of the work, objected on the ground that copper would turn green and that the verdigris would "run" and spoil the appearance of the monument; he also doubted that the copper would have the necessary tensile strength.

So the men of science agreed on a number of iron bands, heavily galvanized and gold-plated to prevent rusting. The bands are connected with the aluminum point of the monument
and the framework of the elevator, and at the base iron cables lead the electricity into a deep well, where it harmlessly expends its force. The protection has proved to be perfect.—
Youth's Companion.

First Aid to the Backward.

Ingenuity of college students in writing badly after they have "passed off" the required freshman or sophomore course in composition is extraordinary. Perhaps it is a reassertion of native inaptness, perhaps it is sheer carelessness. But the remedy to be adopted at Harvard, after special study of the problem, is a patient one.
A standing faculty committee is to be appointed, and "instructors in all courses will be urged to send to the committee any examination book, thesis or other piece of work which has demonstrated the writer's inability to express his thought." The committee will thereupon prescribe additional work in English for the delinquent students. The very warning should end more slovenliness, and those whose fault lies deeper should be grateful for the discipline.—New York Evening Post.

DAMAGE SUITS FILED AGAINST COAL COMPANY

Armour T. Craven Maintains That Property Was Damaged by Undermining—Says That Surface Was Improperly Supported.

Armour T. Craven of Carroll township, has filed two suits against the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Co. In each damage is claimed for surface subsidence, due to mining operations carried on thereunder. In the one action he represents himself and in the other appears as plaintiff-executor of D. W. Craven, deceased.

In the action in which he is plaintiff he seeks to secure $3,000 damages and in the other where he is plaintiff-executor, $5,000. The land in question is in Carroll township and contains 150 acres, two rods and 32 perches. Prior to July 2, 1913, it was owned by D. W. Craven now deceased and since July 2, 1913 has been owned by the plaintiff, Armour
T. Craven.

It is alleged that the defendant company, in removing the coal from under this farm, has failed properly to support the overlying surface. It is averred that the surface has cracked and subsided and that irreparable damage has been done to the farm. On the tract is a dwelling house, barn and other outbuildings.
